A continuing need exists at the U. S. Army Intelligence School for highly competent guest lecturers to present certain specialized instruction to student officer personnel to prepare them for responsible assignments in military intelligence. Included in the program of training for our Associate Officer Advanced Course are two hours of instruction on national intelligence organization and functions.

25X1A

As [redacted] has very capably presented this topic in the past, we especially wish to have him repeat the lecture for the members of the current Associate Class and have tentatively reserved the hours of 10:10 A.M. to 12:00 noon on March 19, 1958, for this address. The scope of the lecture should include an evaluation of the national intelligence family and necessity for creation of coordination authority, as well as a discussion of the National Security Council, Intelligence Advisory Committee, and other subsidiary elements. As is our usual custom, a portion of the session will be reserved for a question and answer period. All of the students have been cleared for access to TOP SECRET information.

Favorable consideration of this request will be of material assistance to this organization. If the date suggested is inconvenient, we shall be happy to arrange a more suitable time.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas M. Larnier
